Foreword (2019 update for the FINAL version 1.6)

I launched this guide in March of 2018. It is now the end of September 2019. I've been selling this guide for one and a half years, and it's finally time to release it for free.

Why you ask?

The sales are declining and I've made plenty of money with it and had A LOT of sales. How many? See for yourself:

And that's only from my website. It's not including sales from Warrior Forum and some other sites.

Since the method has been bought by so many people, some niches that I wrote about in this book are now very competitive or even destroyed. But it doesn't mean that you can't make money with this method. Actually you can make a lot of money, just by twisting my method and by promoting new interesting offers and thinking out of the box. Just read this case study on how a BHW member W White made \$700+ in 12 hours with ClickBank + Reddit.

So you see, you just have to find the right affiliate program, dropshipping product, etc, and you can start making money!

TIPS for 2019 and upwards:

Tor Browser:

In this guide I talk a lot on how to use Tor Browser for this method, but in 2019 I say DON'T! Forget about it!

Because of how successful this method was, so many people abused Reddit with Tor Browser, which made Reddit admins ban many Tor IP's. Nowadays, sometimes even brand new account without history get shadowbanned just by logging in from Tor Browser. DO NOT USE IT anymore!

What are the alternatives?

Either buy proxies OR get a VPN! I suggest NordVPN as it's the leader in the VPN market and it works great.

I myself use a VPN, as proxies are too much of a hassle.

Niches:

Forget about Gaming niche. It was my favorite niche, which made me the most money, but because of this book it's become almost impossible to promote on Reddit. Almost all gaming-related subreddits are aware of this method and ban all the users right away. And the users themselves report the posts and downvote them.

All other niches – go ahead!

Important!

Everything after the FOREWORD remains unchanged as it was for the people who bought the book for money, so that you – THE NEW READER, can see what the fuss was all about when I launched the book.

I hope that my book will inspire you to earn a lot of money on the internet!

Take Care!

Introduction - About me

In 2016 I was just like the majority, without real success in IM. I had some social accounts that didn't bring me any money and that's it. At the time I had a Twitter account that posted deals. My inspiration was Kinja Deals. I thought if they can make so much money, then I could do too, because I could post the same deals as they, I just needed followers. That was the hard part. At this moment I've been lurking Reddit for about 7 years. I never posted anything there, just lurked there every day for countless of hours. In one ordinary day in October 2016 I had an idea that I could try to get some followers to my Twitter account by posting some good gaming deal to Reddit. That day orders started coming in. I got few dozen orders through Amazon, all thanks to Reddit. My post got upvoted, people were very interested in the deal, they were fans of the game I was promoting, it was like a match made in heaven.

I realized I've hit the Jackpot.

From that day I started to post as much deals I could find to the appropriate subreddits and made a lot of money. And the rest is history.

There hasn't been a day since without any sales. NONE.

Since the start of my journey I've encountered so many problems: account bans, IP bans, URL bans, deleting my posts, creation of accounts, how to save time and so much more. And I've mastered them all. I made my method so effective, that it shocks me, that no one else is doing it, besides me. Probably others too have tried and encountered many of the problems I did and left Reddit alone. Well I'm glad they've given up, because I dominated this niche entirely by myself till now. And if you think that you've seen someone do this on Reddit, then trust me, it was me with one of my accounts.

In this guide I'll tell you everything I know, and how to make your money back in the first days. You don't need to have a following. You don't need to invest any money. I won't upsell you anything, and won't make you buy any products, or make you use any software that I get commissions of. I wrote this guide purely because thanks to the money Reddit has made me, I've invested in other businesses and I have no time to do this Full Time. It would be such a waste if this knowledge would stay unused.

I know this guide may seem pricey, but it is like that for a reason, to keep the competition low. I will even spoon-feed you with real examples of my past work and every niche that has worked for me. Besides, this is never-before seen knowledge.

Know-how = $$$.

Earnings

For the first ~10 months I used Amazon exclusively as the only affiliate program I use. Then I started using NordVPN, GameStop, Best Buy, Humble Bundle, Udemy and others.

I'll let the pictures speak for themselves.

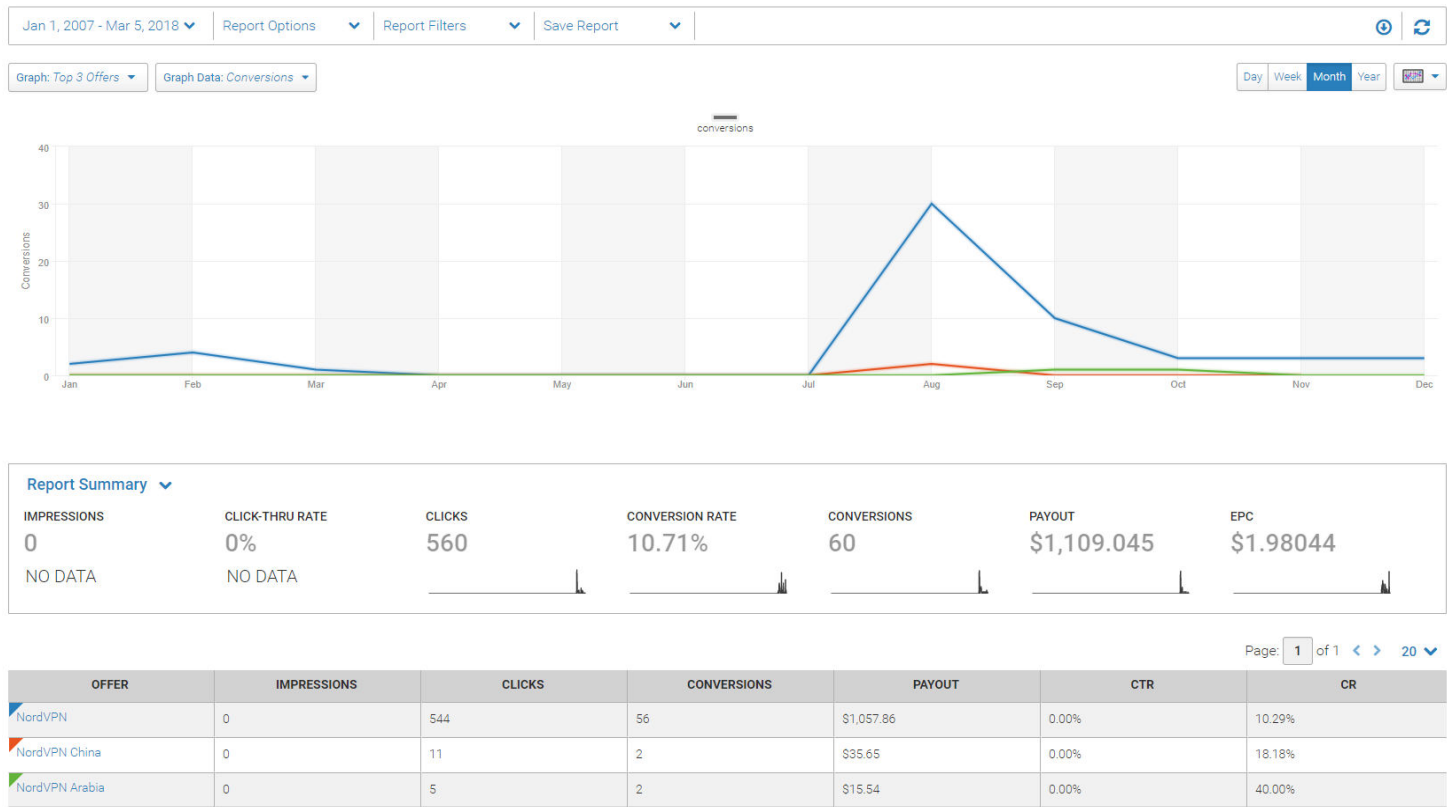

Amazon earnings October – December 2016 (when I started).

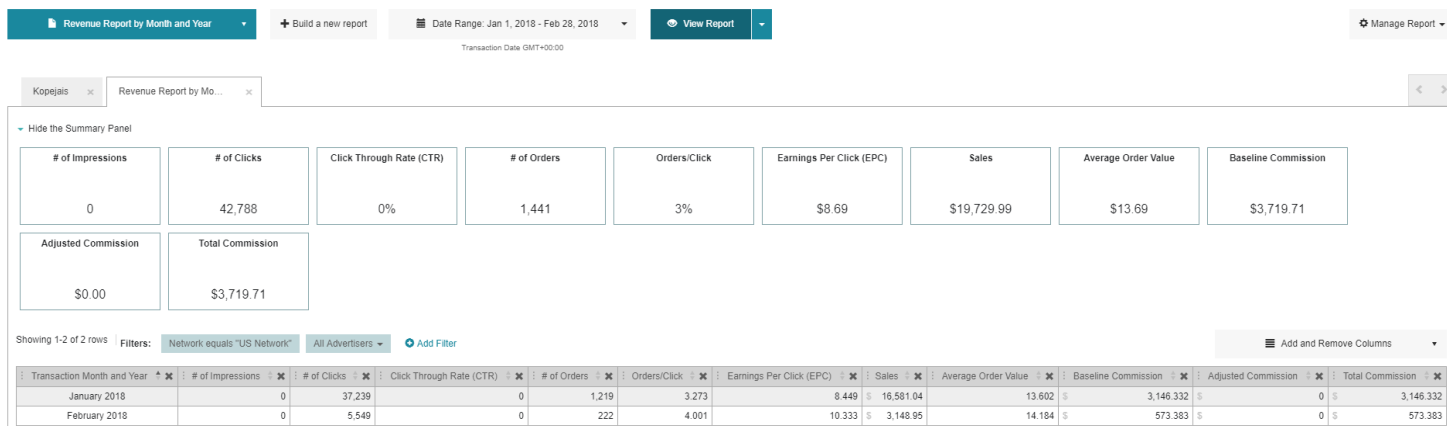

Amazon earnings 2017.

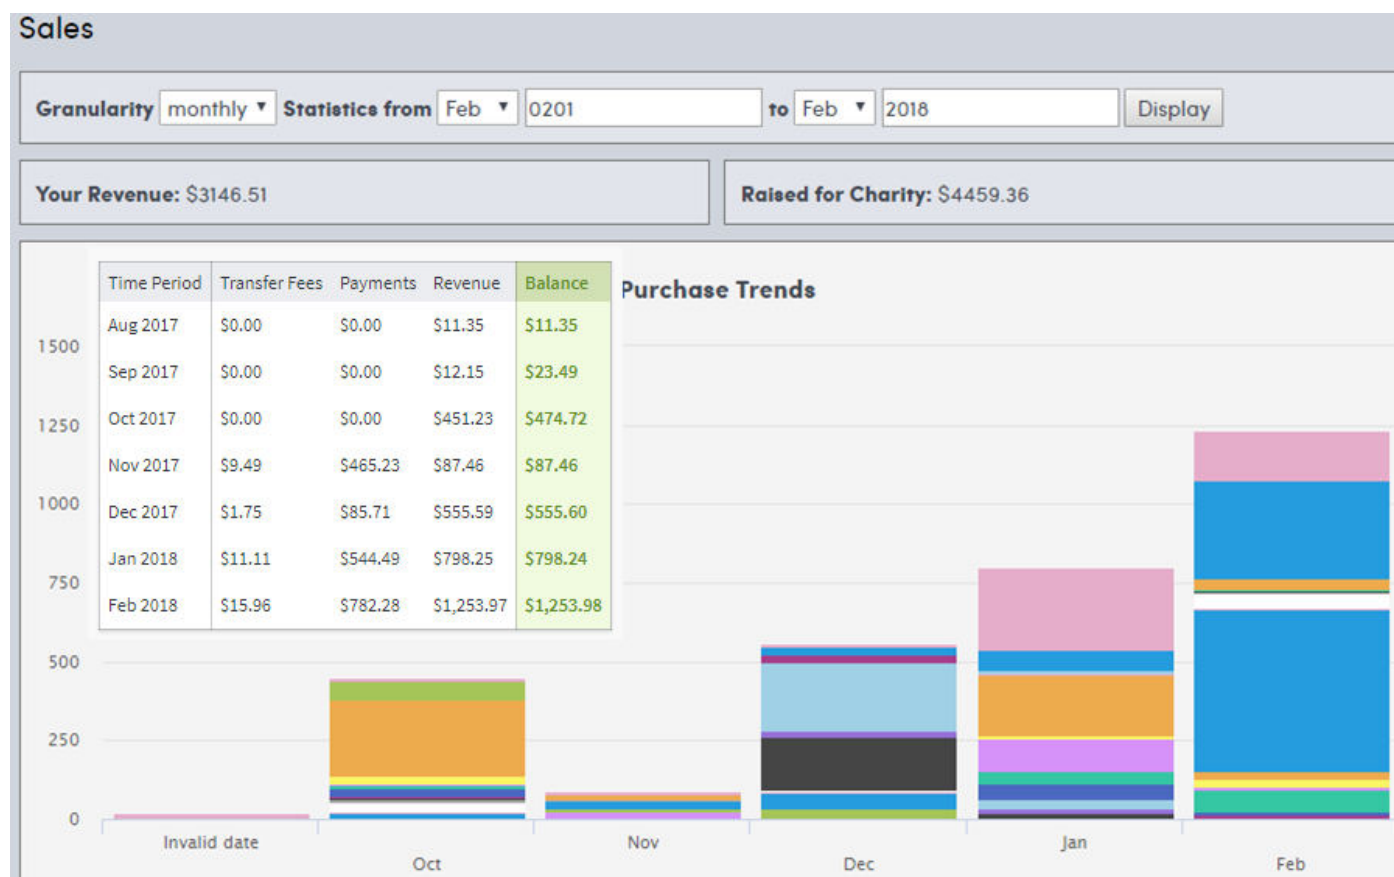

NordVPN 2017.

GameStop, Best Buy, Udemy – January to February 2018

Humble Bundle October 2017 – February 2018.

As you can see in the pictures, as time went by I started looking for more things to promote. The possibilities are endless.

If Redditors are passionate about something, then they will all be joined in the subreddit for that niche.

Let that thought sink in for a bit! When I realized that Reddit is full of fans in thousands of niches, it made everything simple. There's a subreddit for everything. Think of a thing, skill, TV show or whatever, and you'll know that there are people who are interested in that, and they all will be talking about that in the subreddit.

If you give people what they want, they will gladly seize the opportunity to buy that product. If the product is on sale, even better!

Subreddits / Niches

This is where the daily deals come in. I highly recommend posting deals of any kind. Why? Because PEOPLE LOVE DEALS. Deals are a Big thing. They're NEWS. People upvote news. Deals don't come so often, that's why people use the opportunity to save money, when you give them a chance to do so. All you have to do is let them know that there's a deal on the product they love. They will thank you in two ways:

- 1) They will upvote your contribution, because it helps them to save money, and keeps them informed.
- 2) They will buy stuff through your affiliate links which will get you $$$. And even if they don't buy the product you promote, that's still a Win. Know why? Because Amazon is such a powerhouse. Everyone in US uses Amazon. That means you made them go to Amazon with your affiliate link, and they will have your cookies saved for 24 hours.

Did you know that only 30% of revenue comes from the products I promote? The rest comes from other products that people buy on Amazon, because:

- 1) They get distracted by other products when I make them go to Amazon.
- 2) They were going to buy something anyway from Amazon, because they're regular clients of Amazon. Only this time you get a cut, for making them go to Amazon with your link.
- 3) They buy more than 1 product.

So, what can you promote?

Anything! Just think of something, that people are passionate about, and you'll know you are onto something. But truthfully, I'm going to reveal you all the niches that made me all this money!

- Video games. Gamers are crazy. They buy games every month. They play them a lot. They talk about them like no other. And if there's a deal, they hop on it like crazy.
- TV Shows. Think of a TV show, and there will be fans for it. Heck, there will be a subreddit about it. People love to buy DVD's & Blu-ray's. New Season coming out? Promote it! There's a deal on Blu-ray? Promote it! Collector's Edition? Promote it! Memorabilia related to the show? Promote it!
- Movies that have a large following. Series like Star Wars, Star Trek, Marvel Cinematic Universe, Twilight etc. Movies that are Legendary masterpieces (mostly Sci-fi) like Terminator, Blade Runner, Back to the Future etc. All these have Blu-rays, collectors editions, memorabilia.
- Cartoons & Anime. Same as above.
- Courses. You can sell courses to just about anyone. People have so many interests. Which are the best? Here are some examples: Programming (there are too many programming languages to learn), personal development, software, photography, health and fitness, music and so much more.

- Sex. Reddit has so many NSFW subreddits. You can try niches like Swingers, BDSM, Skinny girls, Large girls, Dildos etc. I personally had the most success with Swingers & BDSM.
- Board games. Lots of games. So many fans.
- Dungeons & Dragons. So many geeks out there.
- Toys. Does word Lego ring a bell? How about Funko Pop? They make toys in every popular niche like Game of Thrones, Star Wars, Avengers and many others. How about Amiibos, Skylanders, Disney Infinity? You can promote them all.
- Books. People read a lot. There are subreddits for almost every major book series.
- Music. Musicians have the biggest fans. They love all memorabilia, albums, vinyl, autobiographies and more.
- Sports. There's a subreddit for almost any sports team on the planet. Fans buy everything that's related to their beloved team.
- Comics & manga. Most of the comic heroes or manga's have their own subreddits.
- Cryptocurrency. People who are interested in this niche, already have invested in cryptocurrencies, and they always want to learn more about them as courses, books or some other deals that you can find.
- Anything that has a subreddit. I've even promoted gardening tools, electronics, mattresses, clothes and many more.

For all the popular subreddits and even the less popular ones you can check out RedditList.com. It has a list of 5000 of the largest subreddits. You can get your ideas right on that list.

How large subreddit is too large to post, and which is too small to care about?

I post in subreddits that has no less than 1000 subscribers. Less than that means that the subreddit is not very active, and the people in that niche are not very passionate. You can pass on Subreddits that have over 1 million subscribers, because the large subreddits have many mods, and it's very hard to slip past them. Even if your post sticks, it's not for a long time.

The largest subreddits that I had luck with and I made a lot of money with are:

- /r/GameOfThrones – Game of Thrones (over 1,2M subscribers)
- /r/PS4 – PlayStation 4 (over 770K subscribers)
- /r/XboxOne – Xbox One (over 650K subscribers)
- /r/NintendoSwitch – Nintendo Switch (over 500K subscribers)
- /r/Overwatch – Overwatch (over 1,1M subscribers)
- /r/WOW – World of Warcraft (over 500K subscribers)
- /r/anime – Anime (Over 630K subscribers)

- /r/starcraft – StarCraft (over 200K subscribers)
- /r/RickAndMorty – Rick and Morty (over 700K subscribers)
- /r/programming – Programming (over 950K subscribers)
- /r/BitCoin – BitCoin (over 750K subscribers)
- /r/3DS – Nintendo 3DS (over 200K subscribers)
- /r/Horror – Horror movies (over 280K subscribers)
- /r/comics – Comics (over 850K subscribers)
- /r/Frugal – Frugal living (over 830K subscribers)
- /r/Hearthstone – Hearthstone (over 640K subscribers)
- /r/Minecraft – Minecraft (over 560K subscribers)
- /r/DestinyTheGame – Destiny video game (over 500K subscribers)
- /r/harrypotter – Harry Potter (over 390K subscribers)
- /r/Rainbow6 – Rainbow Six video game (over 300K subscribers)

And many more. There are many 100K to 300K subreddits that made me great deal of money.

ATTENTION! These subreddits have many mods and it's hard to slip under the radar. Sometimes your post will get taken down in 1 hour, sometimes in 24 hours. Sometimes it doesn't get taken down. But even 3-5 hours on a subreddit on this scale can bring massive traffic.

Do NOT promote on these following subreddits as your posts will be taken down instantly!

- Any subreddit over 1 million subscribers
- Any deals subreddit (they are very anti-affiliate; all links must be clean to submit deals)
- r/Deals
- r/GameDeals
- r/ConsoleDeals
- r/PS4Deals
- r/GreatXboxDeals
- r/3DSdeals
- r/BoardgameDeals
- r/GameDealsUK
- r/BuildaPCSales
- r/BAPCSalesCanada

Now that we know what we can promote, we need to learn where to find great deals.

Amazon Associates account creation

!!! SKIP THIS STEP IF YOU ALREADY HAVE AN AMAZON ASSOCIATES ACCOUNT!

!!! Amazon is not the only affiliate program I suggest. It's just the largest and most popular one, so I'll go into details about it.

Since many of you who bought the guide has asked on how to create an account and get accepted into the Amazon Associates program, I've updated this guide with the key elements. Recently Amazon has become increasingly more difficult to become accepted into their affiliate program.

You should sign up for Amazon U.S. Associate Program (because most of the Reddit users are from US). If you are from US or Canada you won't have any problems with the application because you have the US/Canada mobile phone number for verification. For other countries this might be a problem.

I suggest using Dingtone app for US phone number. Once you've installed the app on your phone, go to the section called "Numbers". Choose a United States number. It will cost you $1.99. Enter this number in the Amazon Associates application and you will receive a phone call to your phone with the instruction to enter the PIN that you see on your desktop. Once you've entered the PIN on your mobile phone, you will be verified and your application will have concluded.

Website Used in Application

When deciding which website to use for the initial registration you should have at least one of the following:

- 1) Any website
- 2) Active social media pages, like: YouTube channel, Instagram page, Facebook page, Twitter account, Tumblr page, etc.

I suggest going for the website. Make sure that you make your first 3 sales from your website, because after first 3 sales Amazon team is going to check your website for the ultimate approval. After that, you can use whatever source you want, and be sure to add your Twitter account to the list of websites that you own in Amazon Associates panel.

If you don't have a website, you can try your luck with social media pages. If you don't have many followers, you should buy some fake followers to make it look more legit. I suggest using Instant Fans.

If you don't have those either and you don't want to spend any more money, you can make a free Blogger page or free Wordpress blog. And apply with it.

Payment options

US citizens can get a direct deposit to bank. What should affiliates from other countries do? Don't be like me and use the "Pay by check option". It has large commissions from Amazon and from the Bank you're going to withdraw the money from. And it is going to take a lot of time. For example:

Amazon pays out money every month after 2 months from the moment you got the commission. So when you start you would need to wait 2 months for the first check to be sent out. The check is going to come to you by mail in 1 – 4 weeks (depending on where you live and how the post works). I've had both variants. Then you would need to go to bank, and cash in the check. It would take bank up to 45 days to actually give you the money, since they would need to physically transfer the money from US to your country. So, it takes a lot of time.

What's the alternative? Payoneer.

Payoneer is a service like Paypal that can be used to send & receive payment. What is unique about them is that Payoneer lets you have a U.S. & Euro bank routing number that can be used to receive payment from various services.

Once your account is activated or if you already have an active Payoneer account, login to the Payoneer dashboard. Click on Receive -> Global payment service & the next page you will get USD receiving account (ACH) information. This is how the page would look like:

GLOBAL PAYMENT SERVICE

This service enables you to receive payments from companies worldwide - as if you have a local bank account in those countries.

The Global Payment Service provides you with access to several international receiving accounts, through which you can request payment. Simply request a payment using the Payoneer platform or provide your payment service information to the company that needs to pay you.

Please Note!

- Only ACH (US local bank) transfers in USD can be accepted
- Transfers must be made from a company account
- Transfers from individuals will be automatically rejected
- Wire transfers are not supported
- Transfers made from a company account owned by you cannot be accepted

Now login to your Amazon U.S. affiliate dashboard & click on account settings > Change Payment Method & here you need to enter the details of your U.S. account from Payoneer.

Select the option which says “Pay me by direct deposit (United States Based Associates Only)” & enter the details. You can use below screenshot for the reference:

Other Affiliate programs

Amazon isn’t the only Affiliate program that you can use. As I already said in the beginning, I earn with various affiliate programs, and I believe it’s possible to earn with almost any product/offer on Reddit.

Here’s a list of other affiliate programs/networks that I’ve promoted with success:

- Humble Bundle
- NordVPN

- Kasidie
- CrakRevenue
- Shopify
- GameStop
- Best buy
- eBay
- CD keys
- Udemy
- Rakuten
- Awin
- Warrior Plus
- ClickBank

Not enough? Here's a list I made: 20 Highest Paying Online Marketing Affiliate Programs 2018

Finding Deals

As an Amazon fan, I will show you where I get the most deals for Amazon. Also, I'll give you some websites where to look for deals.

Keepa

There is this amazing website called Keepa.com. It tracks price of all the products on Amazon, and you can see the historical price on any product on Amazon. At Keepa there is a section called “DEALS”. Here you can browse all the main categories and see the products that have dropped in price in the last day.

The categories that I most like keeping an eye for are:

- Movies & TV
- CD's & Vinyl
- Books
- Electronics
- Software
- Toys & Games
- Video Games

These are the categories in which the people are most passionate about these products. Check this website every day. There hasn't been a day where I don't find a deal to promote.

There's also a Keepa Browser Extension. With it enabled you can go to any product page on Amazon and see the historical price of any product. It helps a lot to see if the deal is real or not (sometimes the sellers put something like 50% off, when actually it is the products normal price which you can see by looking at historical price). I highly suggest that you install this extension, as it will help you a lot.

For example, here's the historical price on Destiny 2 (PS4 version).

As you can see at the time of the image Destiny 2 had its lowest historical price of $16,28.

Twitter List

Make a Twitter list that consists of users that post deals. When you'll open the list, you'll see a ton of deals every day.

Users to follow:

- @KinjaDeals
- @IGNDeals
- @videogamedeals
- @GeekDailyDeal
- @Wario64
- @FatKidDeals

Other sources

- Subreddit /r/GameDeals
- Deals.Kinja.com
- Gold Box Deals at Amazon
- "Movers & Shakers" at Amazon in categories like Movies & Video games

Next, we need to learn how to promote these deals.

Twitter

I already mentioned I use Twitter for this method. Why Twitter? Because Reddit allows Twitter links to be promoted on Reddit. People often link to a celebrity tweet, or for some news that are made through tweets. Often about movies, musicians, TV shows, sports events/news and so on.

Can Reddit ban certain twitter user URL's? Sure. But you really need to piss them off. But here's the best part. Something that I didn't know when I started.

You can change your Twitter username in the settings and it changes the URL.

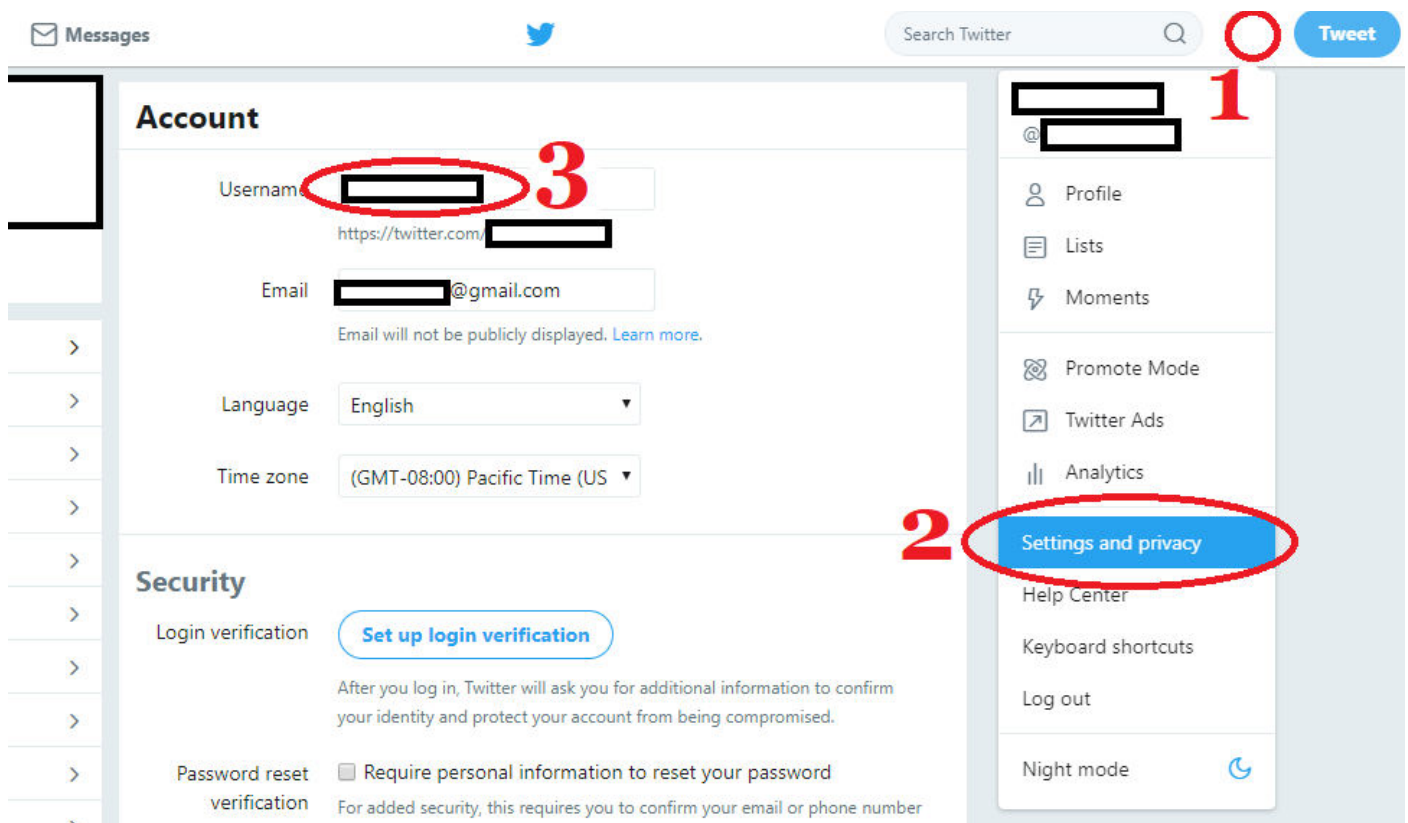

It means you can use the same twitter account forever, just by changing the username. I didn't know this, and when after about 9 months I got my Twitter URL banned I thought that my days are over, because I had a pretty large following, good account, and now I couldn't post anything to Reddit. Only later I found out that you can change URL's and it will trick Reddit's algorithm.

I made another brand-new Twitter account. Started posting on Reddit without any followers. The account was garbage. You know what I learned?

People on Reddit don't care about your Twitter account! They just want to get to the Deal you've posted!

I got as many purchases as before with a shitty account that has no followers. I even received new followers from Reddit. Only when I got this accounts URL banned, I learned that I can switch the URL and trick Reddit. I felt unbeatable.

Here's how you can change the Twitter URL:

1) Click on you Profile Icon on top right corner

2) Click "Settings and Privacy"

3) Rewrite your username in the text field.

4) Press SAVE!

The power of Reddit

Monthly impressions. Of course, it all depends on how much you post, but as you can see I gathered about 1 million impressions on average.

Using Tor Browser

Download Tor Browser: <https://www.torproject.org/projects/torbrowser.html.en>

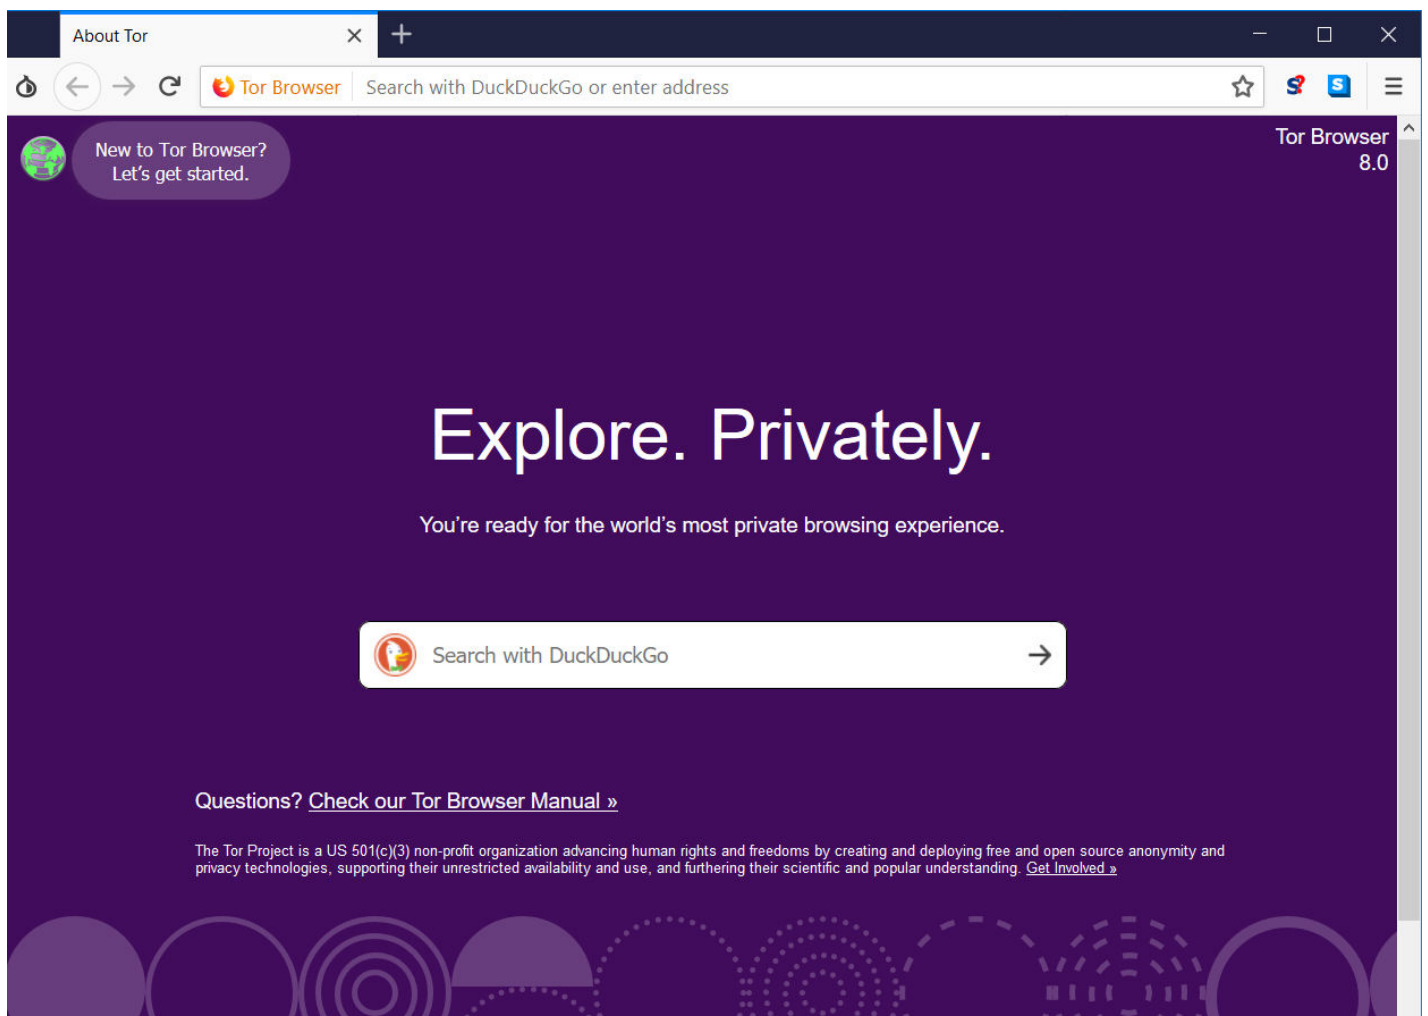

Why do you need Tor? With a touch of a button you can change your IP address. This will come in handy, when you are posting links to Reddit with different users, since a Reddit user can post only once every 10 minutes.

With this method you can make new reddit account once every minute. Nice isn't it? If you are going to make accounts the old-fashioned way without changing the IP, here's what's going to happen.

- 1) You can make only 1 account once every 10 minutes
- 2) When they're going to ban your IP (and they will for spamming sooner or later) they are going to ban all the users that you've made through this IP, even if you haven't even posted anything with those accounts. Trust me, I know this the hard way. That's why you must use Tor and none of the other accounts you've made won't get banned.

Reddit account creation with Tor Browser – Step by Step Guide

1) Open Tor Browser

2) Go to Reddit.com. Press "Sign Up".

The screenshot shows the Reddit homepage in a web browser. The address bar displays "https://www.reddit.com". The top navigation bar includes the Reddit logo, a "Popular" dropdown, a search bar, and buttons for "LOG IN" and "SIGN UP". The "SIGN UP" button is circled in red. Below the navigation bar, there are filters for "VIEW" (list, grid, compact) and "SORT" (HOT, EVERYWHERE). The main content area features a "Welcome to Reddit!" banner with the text "Come for the cats, stay for the empathy." and a "BECOME A REDDITOR" button. Below the banner are three post previews from r/AskReddit, r/UpliftingNews, and r/NoStupidQuestions. On the right side, there is a section for "r/popular" with a description and a "CREATE POST" button, followed by an "ADVERTISEMENT" section.

3) Enter e-mail address. This e-mail doesn't have to be real, it doesn't even have to exist, because you don't need to confirm it to use Reddit. Before @gmail.com use the username, you are going to use.

The screenshot displays the Reddit sign-up process. A modal dialog titled "Choose your username" is centered on the screen. The dialog contains the following elements:

- Title: "Choose your username"
- Subtitle: "Your username is how other community members will see you. This name will be used to credit you for things you share on Reddit. What should we call you?"
- Username Field: A text input field labeled "CHOOSE A USERNAME" with the text "bed" and a blue checkmark icon.
- Password Field: A text input field labeled "PASSWORD" with masked characters and a green checkmark icon.
- reCAPTCHA: A checkbox labeled "I'm not a robot" next to a reCAPTCHA logo. This section is circled in red.
- Username Suggestions: A list of suggestions on the right side: "DullTry", "BudgetCryptographyer", "FantasticScallion6", "Standard_Independent", and "UnitedDistance".
- Navigation: "Back" and "Next" buttons at the bottom.

The background shows the Reddit homepage with various subreddit posts, including "r/AskReddit", "r/UpvotedForYou", and "r/NoStupidQuestions".

5) In this window scroll down and just press SIGN UP

The screenshot shows the Reddit homepage with a modal window open. The modal window has a title "Find communities by topics you're interested in." and a subtitle "Reddit is filled with interest based communities, offering something for everyone. Reddit works best when you are subscribed to at least 5 communities." Below the subtitle is a list of recommended communities with their subscriber counts and descriptions. On the left side of the modal, there is a list of categories with "0 selected" next to each. The background shows the Reddit homepage with a search bar, login and sign up buttons, and various community recommendations.

Here's something for you: my brother (in middle school) is constantly live-streaming to his two or so viewers. As a bonus, he tries to be a soundcloud rapper.

6) That's it, you're done! I usually click the mail icon and read the message, so that it seems that you are using this account (to trick Reddit into thinking this is a real person's account).

The screenshot shows the Reddit r/popular page in a web browser. The address bar displays <https://www.reddit.com/r/popular>. The top navigation bar includes the Reddit logo, the word "Popular", a search bar, and several icons. A red circle highlights the mail icon (an envelope with a red notification dot) in the top right corner of the navigation bar. Below the navigation bar, the page shows a list of popular posts. The first post is titled "What sounds impressive, but really isn't?" from r/AskReddit, posted by u/forceCS 11 hours ago, with 13.5k comments. The second post is a promoted advertisement for "Behold the Festival of Lights! Sign up for this Reddit Gifts exchange by October 1st to get matched!" from u/reddit_exchanges, 12 days ago. The third post is "It's just expected" from r/FunnyandSad, crossposted by u/Notquitegravity 4 hours ago, with 598 comments. The fourth post is "PsBattle: toddler in a dress" from r/photoshopbattles, posted by u/I_AM_HE_WHO_IS_I_AM 6 hours ago, with 398 comments. The fifth post is "I'm a Catholic Bishop and Philosopher Who Loves Dialoguing with Atheists and Agnostics Online. AMA!" from r/IAMA, posted by u/BishopBarron 16 hours ago, with 9.7k comments. On the right side of the page, there is a sidebar for r/popular, featuring the subreddit name, a description of the page's purpose, and a "CREATE POST" button. Below the sidebar, there is an "ADVERTISEMENT" section.

7) Next you want to press the “3 stripes” icon on the top right corner of the browser, choose “New Identity”. The Tor Browser now will restart with a new IP address.

8) Repeat steps 2 to 8, till you have enough accounts.

PS. When you press the “I’m not a robot” button and the message appears "you are doing this too much, try again in X minutes" then just press “New Identity” and start from the beginning. Possibly this IP address has been used recently, and that’s why it’s showing such an error.

It takes about a minute to create an account.

TIP! I suggest you keep an excel with all your usernames. It’s good to have the accounts at least 7 days old, because some subreddits will automatically remove your posts, because of the young age of the account.

Reddit

Most of you who are reading this guide probably use or have heard of Reddit. The most important part of Reddit is its sharing aspect. If users didn't share links, photos, stories, and other info with each other, there wouldn't be a Reddit to begin with. Think of it like a huge forum with thousands of categories, where users can share anything they like. Upvoting and downvoting is how Reddit democracy works; If you like a post you upvote it, if you don't like it you downvote it. The more upvotes you have, the more people may see your post. The same applies to comments which can be upvoted/downvoted. The good stuff rises to the front page, the bad stuff... doesn't.

It's pretty simple, and you don't need any following to get your post seen. You can get a Top voted post with a brand-new account easily.

According to Wikipedia Reddit is the 6th largest website in the world based by Alexa rank (based on a combined measure of page views and unique site users).

Reddit consists of thousands of small communities called "subreddits". Subreddits are communities centered around a particular topic, and they run from rather broad (like the r/history subreddit, 13.3M subscribers) to small niche, like the subreddit for Resident Evil players (39K subscribers). You can find a subreddit dedicated to almost any topic you're interested in. There is no such thing as a topic too narrow or specialized to form a subreddit around. At the time of writing, there are 1,209,754 subreddits (stats from January 2018) according to RedditMetrics. And it's rising all the time. Not all of these will be of interest, of course, but plenty will. Basically, if you can think of a topic, there will be a subreddit for it, no matter how obscure.

For all the popular subreddits and even the less popular ones you can check out RedditList.com. It has a list of 5000 of the largest subreddits.

Things you should know about Reddit.

Reddit doesn't like spam (who does right?). That's why the posts have to bring value or need to not look like adverts.

Let me spoon-feed you. Here are few examples of posts that are always highly upvoted:

- [Product] is now 50% off
- [Game] on [game system] is 25% off
- [TV show] on Blu-ray is 50% off
- [Product] is on sale for $25/-50%

- [Product] is up for preorders at [store name]
- [Product] is up for preorders and will be released on [date]

ATTENTION! If you spam too much with an account, you might get banned. Reddit very rarely Bans users in a way that a user knows that he's been banned when he logs in. Most of the time Reddit just "Shadow-bans" users. It means that an account can post stuff and comment, but no one will see the posts or comments except the user itself. That's why you need to check if you are "Shadow-banned" before you log in an account (if you have previously used it).

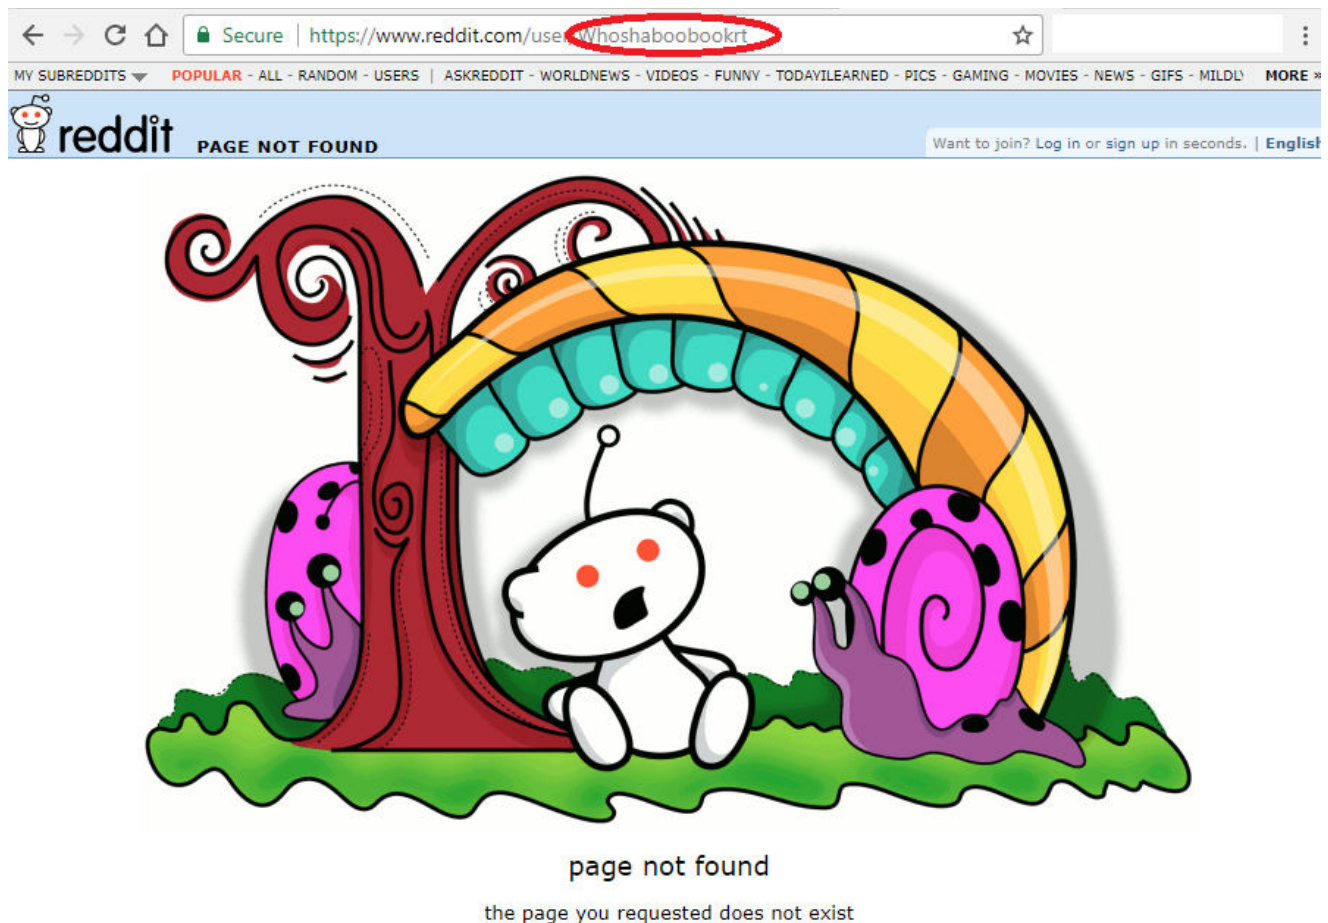

You can see if you are shadow-banned by checking your user URL. → reddit.com/user/USERNAME

If you are shadow-banned then dump the username and move on to the next user.

Here's an unbanned (normal) user page.

The screenshot shows a web browser displaying the Reddit profile of user u/Whoshabooboo. The browser's address bar shows the URL <https://www.reddit.com/user/whoshabooboo>. The page header includes the Reddit logo, the username u/Whoshabooboo, a search bar, and buttons for 'LOG IN' and 'SIGN UP'. Below the header, there are tabs for 'OVERVIEW', 'POSTS', and 'COMMENTS', with 'OVERVIEW' being the active tab. The main content area is divided into two columns. The left column features a 'Join the discussion' banner with a 'GET STARTED' button, followed by a post from r/Damnthatsinteresting titled 'The Turn signals on this car' with a GIF. Below this is a comment from Whoshabooboo: 'Ignore the frat bro license plate.' The right column shows the user's profile information, including their avatar, username u/Whoshabooboo, Karma of 1,995,812, and 'Cake day' on April 1, 2014. There is a 'FOLLOW' button and a 'MORE OPTIONS' link. Below the profile information is a 'TROPHY CASE (9)' section listing awards: 'Four-Year Club', 'ComboLinker' (received 2018-08-29), and 'reddit premium' (received Since May 2018). A 'VIEW ALL' link is at the bottom of the trophy case.

Commenting on Reddit

You can make money through commenting on Reddit. I'll show you an example with pictures (because pictures say more than a thousand words).

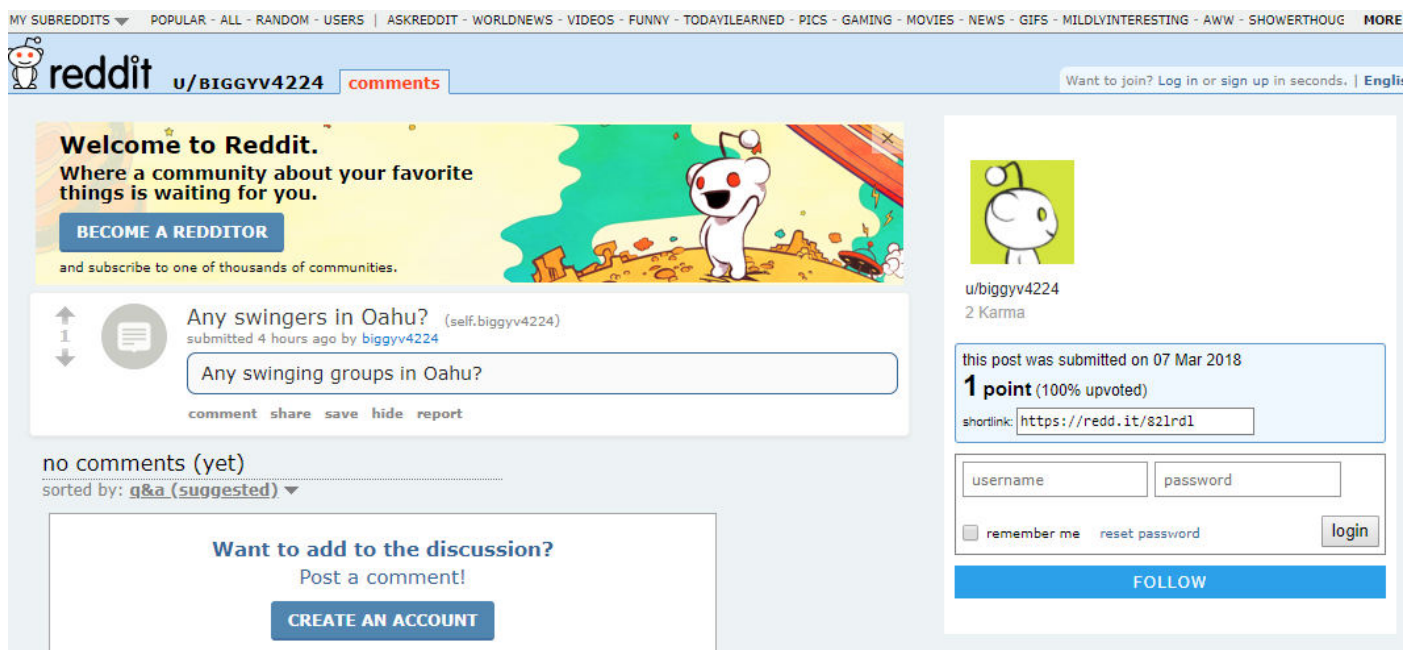

Let's say you want to promote a Swingers website. There's a search bar on reddit. Use it to look for "Swingers".

You now need to refine the search results. Choose “Links from past 24 hours”.

Then looks for posts, that are asking for advice about swingers. I found this simple post, where user biggyv4224 asks for swinging groups in Oahu.

I would then go and reply to the biggyv4224 something like this: You should check out [Website name (with link)]. I'm sure you'll find partners there.

And that is it. Once you've received 1 upvote for your comments, then you can comment without waiting 10 minutes before next comment. This brings me to the next vital section: Upvotes.

Upvoting your own posts

Many people on the web talk that it's impossible to upvote yourself, because of the Reddit algorithm, IP address and that direct upvotes don't count. Well guess what? Those people don't know shit. Here's where Tor Browser comes in play and my Know-How. Since you've already made bunch of accounts with Tor Browser, now you can make them work for you.

With each upvote that you are going to give to the post, you must change IP address with Tor Browser (explained earlier in the guide). These upvotes count, but only if you do it the right way.

How the votes WON'T count:

- By going to the user page and upvoting all the posts.
- By going to the direct link of the post and upvoting it

Here's how the upvotes WILL count:

- By going to the subreddit where the post has been made. Link example:
reddit.com/r/SUBREDDIT/new
By upvoting posts through this link your upvotes will count.

I suggest give each post ~5-7 upvotes. It is more than enough to gain traction and make your post appear as HOT on the subreddit. When I started posting on Reddit I didn't upvote myself entirely. I only started it doing 10 months later. If the content is good, the upvotes will come from other users.

If you wish you can upvote more but be wary that Reddit may catch these upvote accounts if they see a pattern, and all the accounts will get banned altogether. Less than 10 upvotes from your accounts are safe way of up

Upvoting your own comments

Since you've already made bunch of accounts with Tor Browser, now you can make them work for you.

With each upvote that you are going to give to the comment, you must change IP address with Tor Browser (explained earlier in the guide).

Here's how you do it:

- 1) Make a comment from "Account #1" (use Tor Browser)
- 2) Copy the link of the post where you left the comment

- 3) Press “New Identity” in the Tor Browser
- 4) Paste the link in the link bar and go to the link
- 5) Log in with “Account #2”, find the comment and upvote it.
- 6) Repeat steps 3-5 with as many accounts as you wish.

TIPS!

!!! Once you get at least +1 comment karma from another Redditor, you will be able to post comments without waiting for 10 minutes to post the next comment. You can circumvent this by upvoting yourself from another account.

!!! For better results I suggest give each comment ~5-10 upvotes. It is enough to gain traction and gives your comment more visibility. (Keep in mind that the results that I provided in this guide was achieved without upvoting my own comments. This is an extra step I’ve added for better results.)

!!! I highly suggest that the accounts which you are going to use for upvoting have at least 1 post on Reddit, that has at least 2 karma (upvotes). That way the upvotes will surely count and won’t dissapearvoting. You can do more, but don’t do the rest in the first hour.

How to Start implementing this Method.

For better results this is what I suggest you should do.

- 1) Make a Twitter account. Add profile image & header image that reflects your niche.
- 2) Apply to affiliate networks if you haven’t got an account already.
- 3) Make 50 Reddit accounts with Tor Browser.
- 4) Age Reddit accounts 7 days (because there are many subreddits that don’t accept posts from entirely new users to reduce spam)
- 5) While aging accounts, you can work improve them by getting your first karma (see next headline – How to get Karma fast). If you have karma on your account then you won’t be needed to prove that you are not a robot by doing the robot check. Also some subreddits ask for at least 10 karma to post (it’s very rare and mostly on the really large subreddits).
- 6) When the 7 days have passed, start posting on Reddit. I usually use 5 accounts at a time. I do that to save time. With one account you can post only once every 10 minutes. With 5 accounts I can make 5 posts every 10 minutes. It’s a big difference if you don’t like to waste time. The second reason why you should use more accounts at once by linking to the same twitter account is if Reddit mods ban your Twitter link from Reddit, they may also ban all the accounts that have linked to it. So, if you would use 50 accounts simultaneously for posting links to the same Twitter, they may get shadowbanned altogether.

7) At the beginning of this journey I suggest you make an Excel table with subreddits that you have posted on and keep a record of how the post performed there. That way you'll learn which subreddits are good for posting and which ones aren't. I used this excel for about 2 months, and then I stopped using it, because I was already familiar with all the subreddits and I knew from top of my head what works and what doesn't.

Excel table example:

Subreddit	Link	How many upvotes the post received?	Subscribers	Is it good for promotion?	Comments
PS4	https://www.reddit.com/r/PS4/	56	838K	Yes
GameDeals	https://www.reddit.com/r/gamedeals	0	524K	No	Post gets deleted immediately
Resident Evil	https://www.reddit.com/r/residentevil	85	32K	Yes

ATTENTION! Don't get discouraged if you post a few posts and they don't show up or you are not getting immediate results. Probably you did something wrong, or you chose the wrong subreddit to promote. All my readers who have contacted me saying that this doesn't work have made some very big mistakes and that's why it didn't work in the first place. After walking them through what they did wrong and what should they improve they got instant results.

The more you'll post, the more you'll understand what works and what doesn't!

TIP! If you want to promote for an Example this Game of Thrones Book set.

I would promote it on different subreddits. I would search for “Game of Thrones” and “Books” and see which subreddits would fit for it.

These are the subreddits where I would promote this Book set:

- <https://www.reddit.com/r/gameofthrones>
- <https://www.reddit.com/r/asoiaf>
- <https://www.reddit.com/r/freefolk>
- <https://www.reddit.com/r/Fantasy>

Downvoting “Bad” comments

Once in a while there will be some internet hero, who think’s he’s the Sheriff of the internet, who will comment on your posts saying: “Nice try spammer” or “Nice affiliate link”. What can you do?

You downvote him into oblivion, so that his post stays hidden or gets deleted automatically by mods. How to do that? The same way as you upvote your posts. With different accounts from different IP’s you will downvote him and “report” the comment for spam or abuse. Once you’ve done this from 5-7 accounts the post will get automatically removed by Reddit. If it’s not removed, it will stay hidden once it gets minus 5 karma.

How to get Karma Fast.

For new accounts you may want to get your first Karma. If you have karma on your account then you won’t be needed to prove that you are not a robot by doing the robot check. Also, some subreddits ask for at least 10 karma to post (it’s very rare and mostly on the really large subreddits). And it gives your account some credibility (although it doesn’t matter much).

1) Go to the World Politics subreddit called r/worldpolitics – Here’s the link:
<https://www.reddit.com/r/worldpolitics/>

2) Go to Google.com

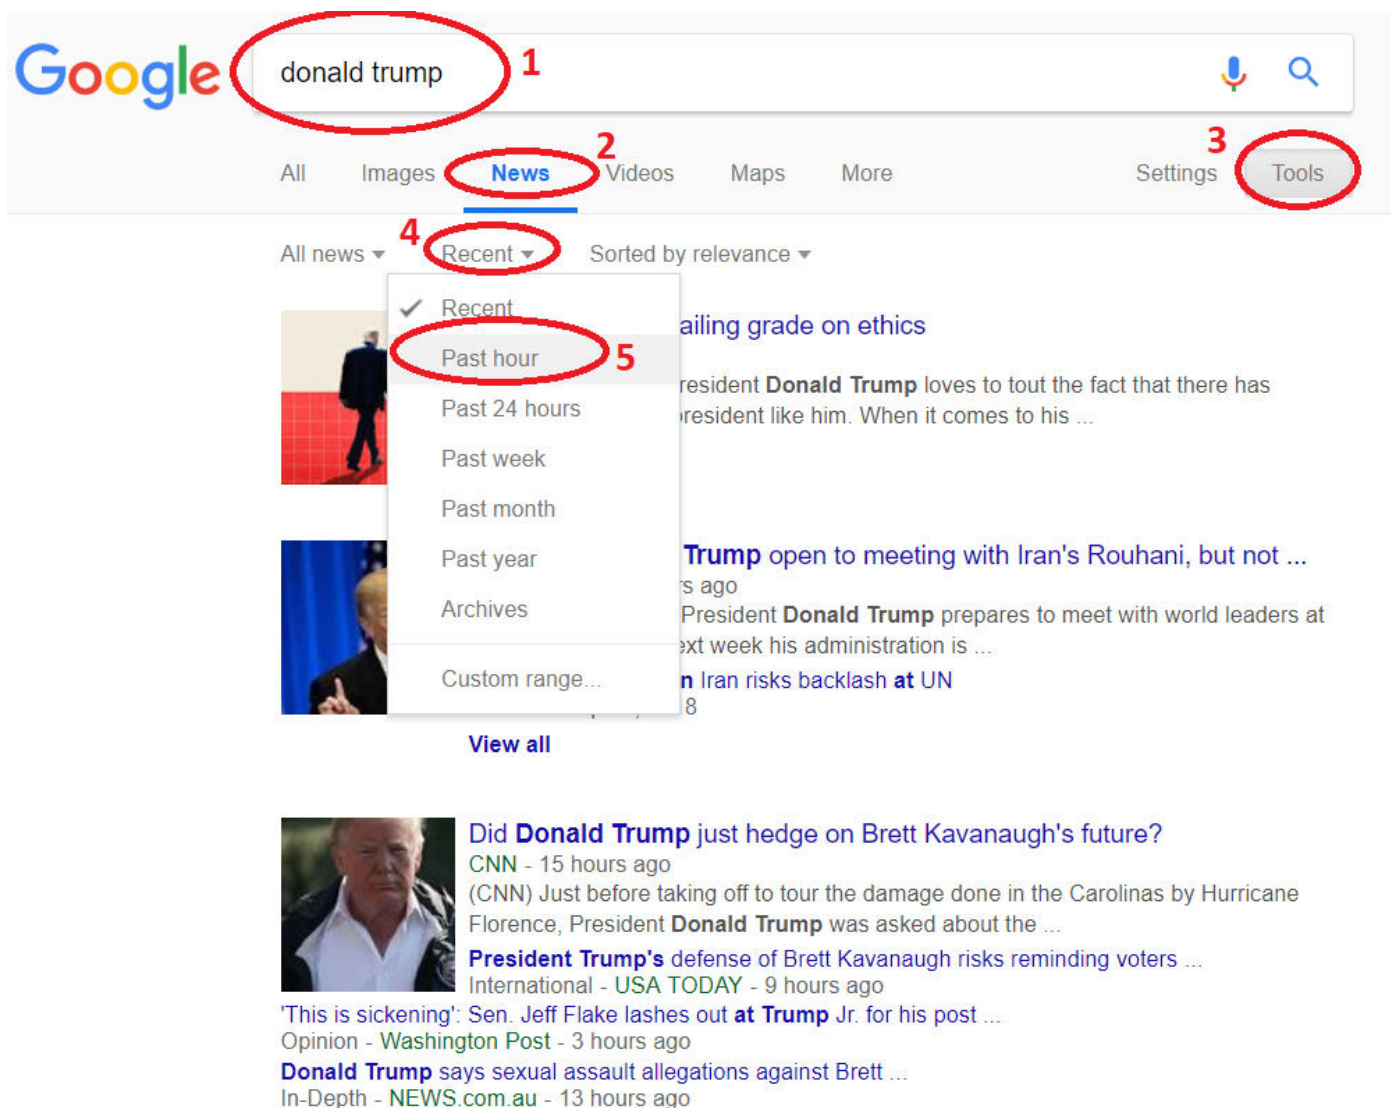

1. Search for “Donald Trump”.

2. Click on “News”

3. Click on “Tools”

4. Click on “Recent”

5. Choose “Past hour”

3) Here you must choose any article that is about Donald Trump from a reputable source like Washington Post, BBC, CNN & others.

4) Post the link to the article on r/worldpolitics subreddit

5) You'll get many upvotes for posting anything Donald Trump related

6) Repeat this for all the accounts from different IP's (use Tor Browser)

This works so well because r/worldpolitics has over 500K subscribers and there are thousands of users online at any second which will upvote anything regarding The President.

Bonus method:

If you don't want to post a link to Twitter by any means, here's what you can do.

1. Use URL shorteners. Yes, most of the URL shorteners on Reddit are banned. It means that if you post a link to URL shortener your post won't show up. But, I did find a way to bypass this. Not all URL shorteners are banned. There are so many similar services around the world, you just have to find them. I like to use Google Translate. Write "URL shortener" in the translator and choose any language that is not so common. Then copy the translated text in Google. Look for URL shorteners from that specific country. You won't believe how many actually work on Reddit, just because they are not known. I've used many URL shorteners on Reddit from different countries like Finland, Slovenia, Slovakia, Czech Republic, Sweden, Estonia and many more.

2. Set up your own URL shortener. Guide No 1 & Guide No 2
3. Buy your own domains from NameCheap.com for $0.88 and redirect anything from these cheap domains. If your domain gets banned on Reddit, just get another one.

How I made $149.70 with Reddit marketing for 20 minutes work. A small case study.

Lately I've been trying to get into the dropshipping business with Shopify stores. And since I'm good with Reddit, I thought why not try and promote something on Reddit that I am selling in one of my stores. And that's what I did. I made two identical posts on Reddit. It was a video of an iPhone case that looks like a Game Boy. This post didn't link to my shop, it was just to start the traction and bring the upvotes. Next with another account I made a comment: "Source? I need one!". Which lead to a reply that I made with the third account replying a Link to my Shopify store.

The first post was on subreddit named r/INEEEEDIT. It's a subreddit for all the cool things you would want to buy. This post received 47 upvotes and 11 comments. This subreddit has a total of 339K followers.

So, what are the results of all this? In 24 hours I got 6 sales, that generated me revenue of $149.70, and I got a total of 688 visitors only from Reddit. Many of whom signed up for my stores newsletter. All this was done by a simple comment in the post. Imagine what traffic I would've gotten if I got them directly to my store with the main post? I can tell you - tens of thousands. If you got time to put in for work, you can literally make thousands of dollars a month, just by leveraging Reddit traffic.

It's a pity that the post on subreddit r/gifs didn't go viral. If it would the traffic would be x10. The good thing is that you can always try again with different video/gif/picture/title etc. There are many variables. Even the time of the day is important when to post on Reddit. Since majority of Reddit users are from USA, you should always post when they are awake, to get the best out of it.

Stats of my Shopify store on the day I made the posts:

So, you see how easy it is to generate traffic with Reddit. With this method it is possible to promote:

- Affiliate offers
- Blogs, articles
- Shopify stores
- Social media accounts
- and many more

How can I improve the results of this campaign? You can always link to your website right in the post. By directly linking to your website the traffic can go through the roof. Often times the hosting of the small sites can't take it and the websites go down because of the overload. But be careful! Reddit doesn't like SPAM. If the community will have suspicions that it is a promotion, you will get downvoted in to the oblivion, and you won't get any results. Also, don't over-spam Reddit with your links. Reddit may ban your website, so that whenever someone links to it whether in posts or comments, that post/comment won't be seen by anyone. You have to be SMART to promote on Reddit.

All in all, there are many ways and tricks on how to promote on Reddit. It all depends on what you are promoting. Short-term success is easy on Reddit, long-term success is hard. That's why you have to know what you are doing and have a method. From the day I started promoting on Reddit there hasn't been a day since without any sales. NONE.

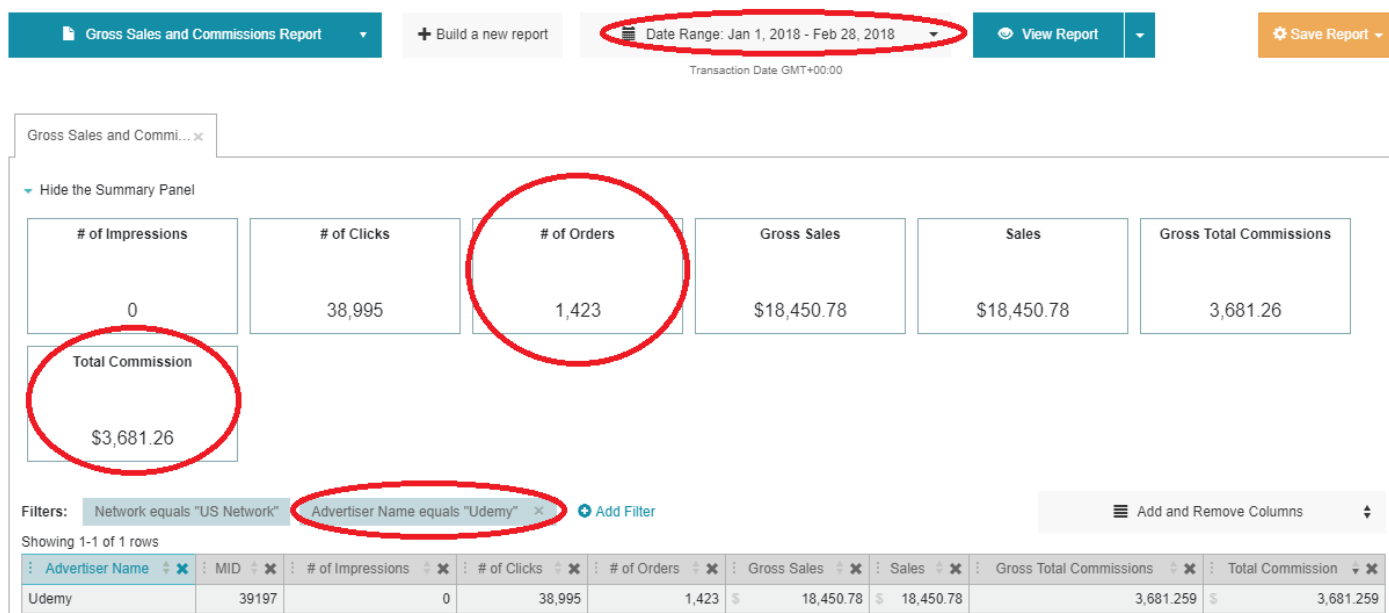

Let that thought sink in to your brain. Reddit is a traffic power machine, and with the right mindset you can achieve anything! The best part about promoting on Reddit? It's FREE.

Extra Story time. How I made $3681 in 42 days by thinking out of the box.

This is a real example of how to generate good amount of money in short time by thinking out of the box. You can apply this method with almost any affiliate offer, you just need to tweak it for your needs.

There's an Online Course website called Udemy. They give 20% commissions for every course sold. The appeal to this website is that they sell every course for ~$10-$12 and advertise them as on sale for 89% to 94% off (their actual price shows up to $200, which is not true). So how did I take an advantage of this constant sale? Since I'm a "deal" guys and I post deals, I took these fake deals and posted them on Reddit as actual deals to save money with the post titles like: "Course X is now 94% off". For example course "How to learn Java programming" I posted on subreddits related to "Java", and so on. I could post every course to a very niche specific subreddit.

I started posting Udemy deals on January 3rd, 2018 and on February 13th I received an email from Udemy staff, that they have received complaints about how I promote their courses and asked me to stop promoting them on Reddit. Here's a screenshot of my commissions:

Here's the email I received from them:

Please confirm that you understand our terms of use and that you'll stop spamming and disclose affiliation with Udemmy immediately.

Waiting for your update as soon as possible.

Kind regards,

Adi A.,

Affiliate Support & Compliance

I had to stop promoting Udemmy courses on Reddit. But the good part? They didn't ban me, and they only warned me. Thanks to this I received my money in two payments. All in all it was a success.

What can you learn from all this success/failure story? Think out of the box! You can earn massive amounts of commissions if you do everything properly. This is just one affiliate program. Think of what you can achieve with more.

Closing words

Now that you have this know-how on how to cheat Reddit and gain massive traffic, you can use this in many other ways, not just by promoting deals.

By knowing how Reddit works you can now:

- Get massive traffic to your websites, Shopify stores, social media, blogs etc.
- Offer Reddit upvote services.
- Bring traffic to your Affiliate, CPA, PPC, PPV campaigns.
- Build a network of Reddit stealth accounts that seem like normal users, but actually are owned by one person. This way you can influence others by posts, commenting, upvoting.
- Google AdSense loves Reddit due to its premium traffic (majority users are from UK, USA and Canada) and low bounce rate. So, you can take help from AdSense to promote your websites.

All in all, there are many ways and tricks on how to promote on Reddit. It all depends on what you are promoting. Short-term success is easy on Reddit, long-term success is hard. That's why you have to know what you are doing and have a method. From the day I started promoting on Reddit there hasn't been a day since without any sales. NONE.
